THE FREE-LOVE TRAGEDY.

Latest Aspects of the Richardson-Mc Fariand Case-View of the Strong-Minded Females-Beecher Arraigned-His Defence-Greeley's Statement-Me-Fariand's Pica, &c.

The New York papers continue to die with unabated warmth the curious complications and results of the McFarland-Richardson homicide. Public interest in the matter has shifted itself in great degree from the principals to the ermed, at the death-bed marriage. ments" and explanations concerning Beecher and Mr. Greeley are now order of the day. McParland, it seems wholly without means, and Postmaster lones is receiving numerous subscriptions from nants and others to defray the expenses is trial. It is charged that one of Richardson legal advisers offered $300 to a New York lawve mployed in procuring secret and Hegal divorces for evidence proving adultery against McFarland hardson's friends admit that this offer was made and that $50 of the money was paid down. The perjured witnesses were not forthcoming and Richardson's representatives refused to advance any mere mency. The affair was ther dropped, and the divorce was afterwards obtain her relations with Richardson were at all times anocent; that at no time did she entertain th east idea of marrying, and that when the Rich rdson letter was published last spring of an in ention of marrying her, she for shocked an oroughly annoyed; that she was determined to be rid of McFarland, but world not consent to arry Richardson until the very last momen: then her name having been so thoroughly mixed up with the affair she determined to provide for r children by becoming his wife, and thus obtain her share of Richardson's property. All this is to be brought out on the trial. BEECHER ARRAIGNED.

It has been already stated that Recorder Haci ett, in his charge to the grand jury of New York reminded them that the Richardson-McFarland case would come before them, and he suggested that if bigamy was committed by the death-bed marriage, the parties alding and abetting it should indicted. The following is the text of the Recorder :

A very important case of homicide will come before you. It has, through various incidents and odd accessories, and extraordinary surroundings of men, women and manners, deservedly attracted great public attention all throughout the county. Your duty regarding the alleged killing of the late Mr. Richardson by Mr. McFarland is a very simple one. If he was of "sound memory and discretion," (to use the old Saxon phrase on the subject of homicide,) when he fred the fatal shot, then his act was murder. But whether or no he was of sound memory and discretion will become a question for the petit jury, and it is rot in your province; your duty is to ascertain if the allegations be true that McFarland fired the shot that caused Richardson's death. I think I should be derelied in the discharge of my functions as an elected conservator of the peace and morals in this court, did I now omit reference to some of the incidents following the act which culminated in the homicide referred to. In vain shall conductors of influential newspapers, and claiming to be moral leaders, beneficially affect the commanity if they convert their homes into free love asylums. In vain shall ministers of the Gospel be heard when criticaling public men, as well as warming private parlathlowers, if they are allowed, unretwieed, to give benedictions to bigamy, or to consecrate lechery by prayers at the bed of death. If there has been bigamy committed, or aided or abetted by any persons, no matter how elevated in life seen bigamy committed, or aided or abetted by persons, no matter how chevated in life may be, fearlessly investigate the matter, arriving at the fact of probable galit, pily indict. WHAT THE STRONG-MINDED WOMEN THINK OF IT

The subject was debated before the Woman ffrage Association Wednesday afternoon, cre ating quite a stir.

Mr. Poole said that if Beecher had refused to perform the ceremony, he "would have been unworthy the name of American chizen," although be admitted there was a statute against performing such a marriage. Mrs. Blake was not in favor of lax dworces, hat Mrs. Norton took an opposite ground. The latter argued that a woman was better off with six husbands whom she loved than with one whom she detested. Dr. Hocher thought the prosent system of marriage was nothing but prostitution. BEECHER'S DECERCE.

lyn, on Friday, from which the following is taken:

The subject of the Richardson tragedy was introduced. Mr. Beecher said that he never saw Richardson until the night of the marriage. On that evening he had been seending two or three hours with Father Hyacinthe, at Mr. Froihingham's house, and while there he was critical to the Astor Rouse. There he found a corndor full of friends and a wreplug group around the bed. The surgeons told him that Mr. Richardson was under the indiscree of orientes, and that after their effect was over he would gradually sink and die. Mr. Prothingham, at whose church Mr. Richardson was undered in the oriented the ceremony, and in doing so simply neved as a maristrate—not in the semi-oriented the ceremony, and in the semi-orientative as a maristrate—not in the semi-orientative of a magistrate marged into one office, when two parties exame to him for marriage he could not summon witnesses, he could not set as judge, but simply contain himself to that which was purely magisterial. At the time of the marriage at the Astor Hoose he did not understand that the haws of New York declare I until and void a divorce of latitude in Indiana. Itaal he known that Richard son had act d as a serpent—had stolen away the affections and partner in life of Mr. McFartan a hundred times than have nectorated the ceremony. Mrs. McFartand, it was stated, had gone to Indiana rather than seek divorce in New York. Essave her children from the stain and annovance it would bring upon them if obtained here. WHAT MIL GREELEY SAYS. in this business, has been subjected to crossex amination by an interviewer from the New Yor! Sun office, who reports the Tribune philosophe as unbosoming himself in the f-llowing emphatic utterances. In answer to questions, Mr. Greetey says he never usked Mr. Secher to marry Rich ardson and Mrs. McFarland. He said:

says he never asked Mr. 3 scher to marry Richardson and Mrs. McFariand. He said:

I was not well negonited or personally intimate with Mr. Richardson, nor did I know Mrs. McFariand; but Mrs. Cathou said she know all about them, so I wrote a letter of introduction for her to Mr. Beccher, telling him that she would explain her business, and I presume she dod; but I knew very Bitle, next to nothing, about the matter, and I certainly never asked Mr. Beccher or anybody else to marry them, or anybody else to the shout besides getting people married. Besides, why definit you ask Mr. Beccher to show you the letter I wrote to hlm introducing Mrs. Cathoun. I have not the slightest doubt that Mrs. Cathoun. Why, if it hadn't been that the parties were in some way or another connected with the Tribune, there would, it have been a mother's son of the whole to but would have thought it all right that Mrs. McFarland should be called Mrs. Richardson; for, after all, it was only the matter of a name.

Mr. Greeley. Yes, whether a woman should be called McGariand; nothing more. Because, as Mr. Bjecker says, it was understood that the marriage was not to be consummated unless Richardson was about to die. In that case nebody could be hurt by the marriage. It was only a matter of benefitting the children.

Reporter, (innocently.) Whose children? Mr. Greeley. No. They had a protector—at least they had their father. But Richardson's children i mean. It was to leave Ms children with a purent—it was for Richardson's children that the thing was done. Mind, I don't back out of it jemphatically,) not a bit of it. I thing it was rightly done—that this woman should be called Mrs. Richardson, not Mrs. McFariand's wile?

Greeley. Why, as I understand it, though I have 1't given the subject much attention, there was a divorce between the original parties, which seems to me to have been all right enough in justice—though I don't know about the teennicalities of the case, and, besides all this, Mr. McFarland had given up all his right in his wife long ago. Reporter. About his relinquishing all his right in his wife?

Mr. Greeley. Yes; he told me so himself. You see I didn't know about the case in any particular way until some time before the first shooting. Mac called upon me personally one only, when I was basied with some American Institute matter and told me distinctly. 'Mr. Greeley, I don't care about the woman; I don't want her back again. I wouldn't take her back. I do not want to live with her again; but that fran has treated me hadly," or some words meaning the same thing. I istened to him and tried to comfort him; and then the villain—the dirty, deliberate, d—d villain—the his Richardson, and then called on me again, and I told him I wouldn't have anything more to do with him. You're a bad man, Mac-Yes, I told him he was a bad man; and so he is—a very bad man. And then (excitedly) just look at that rascally recorder. What a d—d pretty judge he is to take in that style. He is a disgrace. But the whole thing will be a line days' wonder, and then the people will forget all about it, or else they will learn the truth about it; and for my part, I do hope that the matter will be well ventilated, for I do believe that the marriage of Albert D. Richardson and that woman was a just and true one, under the circumstances, and I think that the people, when they know all about it, will think so too.

counsel, Mr. John Graham, read the following statement:

I am instructed by my coansel that nothing that I can now advance will have the effect of changing or shaking the regular course of the law. The proceeding which has just terminated, is one, I am informed, which has to be adopted in cases like the present; It is, I am advised, in the nature of inquest of office, in which by the usual practice I am not allowed to interfere by counsel or otherwise, and in the arrangement of which the large mass of evidence is exclusively within the control of the onlicer who presides over and directs it. With the knowledge that I cannot at this time have the opportunity of corroborating my statements by the testimony of witnesses, and, the belief that any narrative I might indulge in would be snattended with any benefit in a legal point of view, I await for my vindication the impartial trial guaranteed to me by the laws of the State my accesser will then be confronted with me, and the powers wisely created for the complete development of truth will then be observed, and the result will then be declared by a jury of my peers. While I hilly appreciate my situation, and regard the future with becoming concern and solicitude, it may be that trae will demonstrate that the sanctity and safety of more social and moral interests depend on the success of my defence than identify or connect themselves with the metion of the grand tory. The prisoner was then committed to await the ction of the grand jury.

AN OUTRAGE.

Bushwhacking a Revenue Officer.

Mr. A. P. Turner, one of the revenue officers or the Third District, is in Columbia claiming rotection against a band of armed men who ashwhacked him and drove him from his home. If his statements are true, be has been shamefully reated, and should have all the redress that the aw can give him. The following is Mr Turner to his Excellency, Governor Scott: To his Excellency, Governor Scott:

Six—I desire to make the following report in relation to outrages committed upon me and my family at my house in Spartanburg County, S. C.: On Tuesday night, the 7th Isasami, acting under authority given by A. S. Wallace, collector of internal revenue for the Third District, I selzed and carried to my house two stills, which had been used in vloation of internal revenue laws. One was said to be the property of Jonas Serngrs, and being used by Bandel Serngrs. The other was said to be the property of George Burnett and wis being used by him. On Wednesday norming, the Shington of the courthouse, when a neighbor and friend came to me and advised me not to alternyt to go, and told me that a posse of men had camped near my house the night previous and wered near my house the night previous and were d near my house the night previous and were then ting on the road in wait for me, and had incatened in his presence to kill me. I then took he stills off my wagon and put them in my welling house. I waited about two hours, when the stills off tay wagon and put them in my dwelling house. I waited about two hours, when I observed a crowd of about ten or twelve men, as well as I could see through the trees. They were about fifty yaxis from the house, and were stepping into the road frequently and looking toward the house. In about an hour a young man, Jack Burke, came to the gate armed with a double barrelled shot gun. I met him at the gate with a pistol, a five-shooter, in my hand. He (flurke) asked me why I had a pistol drawn. I intermed him that I had been told that a party of men were near at hand who had threatened to k II me. He replied that he would not hurt mer that he was going to Mr. Patter's. He then passed on; the balance of the crowd approached gradually accurate he house to within one hundred yards. I saw them loading their guns and pre-on; the balance of the crowd approached gradually mearer the house to within one hundred yards. I saw them loading their gens and preparing to fire. I stepped to my open door and called to them and said I was only one man alone, and had done nothing contrary to the laws of my country, but had only acted as an officer of the Entirel States, and if you intend to kill me for doing my duty, come on and do it like brave nach and states and if you mend to kill me for doing my duty, come on and do it like brave nach and stone the sake when the sake and to leave. The crowd retreated to about one hundred and fifty yards from the house and reloaded. Others came to them at that time. I had broken the rammer to my pistol in attempting to reload, and found I could not further defend myself. I had my horse saddled, and rode of, keeping the house between them and me, and arrived at the courthouse without further trouble. I know all the men who came up near the house. Andrew McKelvey seemed to be the leader of the party He gave the order to fire, and, I think, fired first himself. Aiford Burke, Matthew Burke, who had returned George Burnett. — Burnett, and Thomas Linder, were incir manes. I think Francis Lamb, Abraham Potter and Calvin Parris wero in the crowd, but did not come up to the house. A great many shorts were fired linal struck the house. I counted sixteen shothoics in my rupboard door; a great many shots were in the check of the door near walch I stond. My little daughler, six years old, was out across the point of her left shoulder by a ride ball, and others of the family were hurt. My wife and seven children were in the house when the firing commenced, but they ran into the line back yard and made their escape. When I halted the party near my house they never regied to me, but prepared to fire. After I had come a man informed by my family that Andrew McKelvey came and pushed open the door of my dwelling, and said to my wife they had come after the two stills that I had taken the sight before; and that I had taken the sight before; and that I had taken a fair shot at him, and he intended to have one at me. The stills were then in my smokehouse and tocked mp. In a short time about thirty men came armed with suns and looked into the house and demanded the stills and carried them away. I got warrants at the courthouse against the men who were in the party. The sheriff, assisted by a constable, the county auditor, Penning, and revenue assessor Bankhart, arrested three of the party and carried them to fail. Some of them were armed, McKelvey, Patter and Linder w

A party of twenty-six gentlemen and five lealies from Massashusetts, arrived in St. Louis 11st week, on route for Jerome, on the Southern Pacific Rallroud, to ascertain the adaptability of that place for manufacturing purposes. They intended to creet a large paper and woollen mills, and to bring a large capifal to Missourt. Another party of fifty, with similar intentions, are expected from the same State in a few days.
